პროექტის აღწერა:

The project aims at addressing human rights-related capacity and protection needs among civil society organizations (CSOs), human rights defenders (HRDs), lawyers' community members, and members of vulnerable groups. Under the project, OHCHR delivers a systematic and diverse capacity-building program for the benefit of the CSOs, HRDs, and lawyers' community members on a wide range of critical human rights topics, with a focus on UN human rights mechanisms. A number of educational materials made available in the national language provide the CSOs, HRDs, and lawyers' community members with substantial information on human rights. Further, the project aims to provide continued support for the engagement of the CSOs, HRDs, and lawyers in international and national human rights advocacy. The project also contributes to the improvement of the access to justice for vulnerable groups, both by advocating for the establishment of a civil legal aid system in the country and the provision of free legal assistance to members of vulnerable groups in Baku and in the regions of Azerbaijan.
