Project description:
This project will pursue a Market Study of the Ukrainian Electricity Sector. This will consist of an assessment of potential competition issues in the electricity sector arising from structural factors, regulatory distortions or market behaviour. At the end of this assessment, recommendations will be developed to address these competition issues, such as proposals for regulatory reform or identification of conduct that may warrant further investigation under competition law.

Expected results:
Assessment of potential competition issues in the electricity sector, arising from structural factors, regulatory distortions or market behaviour.
Recommendations to address these competition issues, such as proposals for regulatory reform or identification of conduct that may warrant further investigation under competition law.
